

Domestic Violence and its effects on women

- I. Domestic violence is the aggressive behavior caused by within the home and usually involves the abuse of a spouse or child.
 - Physical abuse-Involves contact with another person.
 - Mental abuse-Caused by a person subjected to psychology and can cause trauma.
 - Sexual abuse-Caused by a person without consent of the other person.
- II. Impact of domestic violence on women can be short term and long term.
 - Physical injuries
 - Vision loss
 - Miscarriages
 - Mental trauma
 - Seizures
- III. Comparison of domestic violence in USA and underdeveloped countries.
 - Four million women abused every year in United States of America.
 - Eleven to thirteen percent abused every year in Mexico.
- IV. Comparison of domestic violence in USA and developed countries.
 - Four million women abused every year in United States of America
 - Sixty two thousand and six hundred forty nine rape cases were recorded in South Africa.
- V. Islamic point of view on domestic violence
 - Islam does not support domestic violence.
 - Women should be treated with love, kindness and should be given respect.
 - It is the duty of a man to provide for her and she should not be prone to any abuse.
 - This can be supported by many Hadith and Ayah from the Quran
- VI. Reasons for domestic violence in different countries
 - Alcoholics
 - Drug addicts
 - Financial issues.